

Fertility and Reproduction Seminars

Trinity Term 2025

Pauling Centre for Human Sciences, 58a Banbury Road, Oxford

Please Note: Seminars are on Tuesday at 12:30 (excepting 20 May)

Fertility and Vulnerability: Current Issues in Reproductive Health

- April 29 Ursula Gazeley, University of Oxford – The maternal mortality measurement trap: how what we count drives the maternal health agenda
- May 6 Polina Vlasenko, University of Oxford – Cross-Border reproductive mobilities: mediating reproductive labour of Central Asian surrogates in Georgia
- May 13 Nicole Votruba, University of Oxford, Imperial College London – Improving perinatal mental health in rural Indian communities: The PRAMH intervention
- May 20 Willem Ombet, University of Hasselt – Universal access to infertility care: dream or reality? NB: Seminar at 11am
- May 27 Maaret Jokela-Pansini, University of Oxford, University of Zurich – Beyond 'toxic bodies': Political rationalities and women's reproductive health concerns in a high-environmental risk area (Taranto, Italy)
- June 3 Anita Makins, University of Oxford – Cultural beliefs in northern rural Mozambique and their effect on maternal and neonatal health.
Microsoft Zoom – Joining Link to be provided
- June 10 Shahnoza Nozimova, University of Oxford – Limitations and possibilities of emerging reproductive mobilities in Central Asia
- June 17 Saba Mirhossein, Bielefeld University – Demographic hysteria, rebellious wombs: The paradox of Iran's family planning project

Convened by

Avi Mikhaylov
ISCA

Lys Alcayna-Stevens
ISCA

Philip Kreager
Human Sciences